

Against The Wall

Here I lay thinking wondering about this life gotta make some changes try and shed some light with the ones I love trying to shake this feeling that I get that makes us feel alone one you don't forget

I've been lost in my own world
painting my disguise
against the wall, against the wall there I was in my own world sorting through the lies
against the wall, against the wall

All the negativity in this illusion we create blinds us from the truth there's no time to wait and I
just wanna be back again back to where it all began

I've been lost in my own world
painting my disguise
against the wall, against the wall
there I was in my own world
sorting through the lies
against the wall, against the wall