

In The Distance

The clock wakes you up and you're at it again
You know you're not happy and you're patience wears thin Chained to a debt you cannot escape
You ask all the questions, believe all the lies

You believed in something in the distance
It consumed down deep inside
How in the hell did you wind up here
step off the path
There's nothing real in the distance
The energy comes from the now
Shed all your fears, it's happening here Lets thrive together for today

Try to ignite the spark that started it all Doused by the judges that laugh when you fall Chained to a life that you cannot escape so many questions
Don't believe all the lies

You believed in something in the distance
It Consumed down deep inside
How in the hell did you wind up here
step off the path
There's nothing real in the distance
The energy comes from the now
So shed all your fears, it's happening here
Lets thrive together for today